Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

The Company may be subject to market risk in the form of interest rate risk and foreign currency risk. The Company is a development stage company with limited operations to date, and neither interest rate nor foreign currency has had a material impact on such operations.

The company's exposure to interest rate changes primarily may be as related to long-term debt used to fund future property acquisitions. Management's objective is to limit any impact of interest rate changes and may include any borrowing to be negotiated at fixed rates. Although interest rate changes have had no material affect on operations to date, management must continually evaluate such rates as manufacturing operations commence, corporate profitability is achieved, and expansion is being considered. The company may also establish lines of credit through traditional banking venues to insure liquidity during future periods of growth, and may consider fixed or variable rate bank lines consistent with any fluctuation of interest rates at the time of such growth.

The company's exposure to foreign currency exchange requires continuing management attention to the stability of the countries in which operations may be planned, as well as trade relations between the selected country(s) and Canada. Both trade relations and stability as pursuant to planned operations in Chile are currently favorable. The Company will continue to comprehensively evaluate conditions in countries where operations are in place and where future operations are planned, and will take any measures feasible at the time to minimize foreign currency risk. Such measures may include, but are not limited to; a reduction in operations or relocating a portion of operations to a more favorable environment.
